Process Displays Named Supplier of the Year by Robert Bosch Tool Corporation

(Mount Prospect, IL) Process Displays, Inc. of New Berlin, Wisconsin was recognized by Robert Bosch Tool Corporation as its Supplier of the Year at their annual supplier fair on March 29, 2006.

Citing the exceptional creative and innovative design capabilities of Process Displays, Bosch Vice President of Purchasing, KK Lim said, "Process Displays as an overall company has been able to provide highly innovative retail marketing solutions and execute our programs very effectively under challenging timetables." "Their contributions as a supplier have helped bring our tool displays into 2006," he added.

"Process Displays is always showing us new and different ideas," said Mike Brainerd, who manages retail brand marketing programs for Dremel. "Process Displays provides excellent account service," Brainerd continued. "They are always here when I need them, they turn around quality prototypes very quickly, they reliably meet rollout deadlines, and pack-outs are always accurate," he added.

“We’re very proud to receive this recognition,” said Bob Zanotti, President of Process Displays. “We’re a custom, solution driven company and our team of experienced retail marketing experts typically bring over 100 years of combined experience to solve customer problems,” he said. “We only win when our customers win at retail, so that’s our mission,” he added.
